

What will I find at the SpecialQuest website?

ABOUT SpecialQuest

Find the up-to-date SpecialQuest Birth–Five online Communications Kit and download information to share with others. You will also find information about the SpecialQuest Birth–Five program components, evaluation and history.

NETWORKING

Social Media

SpecialQuest is using Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, and Wiki's to connect with others having a shared interest in early childhood inclusion. For convenience, all of these resources can be accessed via the SpecialQuest and Social Media page.

Discussions

The Discussions tool provides participants the opportunity to actively engage with other members of the SpecialQuest Community through sharing valuable personal experiences in facilitated discussions.

Directories

The directories and description of activities provide a simple way to make connections with a variety of groups and individuals including: State Leadership Teams, Ambassadors, Graduates, Members of SpecialQuest Community, and SpecialQuest Birth–Five staff.

RESOURCES

SpecialQuest Multimedia Training Library

Information about the 2007 edition of the SpecialQuest Multimedia Training Library, the new Preschool Inclusion Series, and the SpecialQuest Approach is highlighted here. The Web-Based SpecialQuest Multimedia Training materials offer the opportunity to view or download all materials and videos at no cost. Tutorial and search features make it easy to use! The Library can be accessed directly from the home page, under Resources, or directly at www.specialquestlibrary.org. In addition, the DVD/CD Edition with the Quick Start Guide and/or the Preschool Inclusion Series may be requested at no cost.

Effective Practices from the Field

This is a new way of sharing the good work being done by members of the SpecialQuest community by linking out to their resources posted on the Internet. Topics will include Family Leadership, Preschool Inclusion, Transition, and Institutions of Higher Education.

Stories

SpecialQuest Stories capture the experiences of families of young children with disabilities and those who provide services to them. These stories can help us look at how we provide coordinated services, resources, and supports to families who have infants and toddlers with disabilities. They may also provide support or inspiration to other families and service providers.

Resource Bank

The Resource Bank offers a way to share resources with the SpecialQuest Community by allowing anyone to upload files or web addresses into its "Bank." Once the resource has been uploaded it can then be accessed by anyone through a simple search.

Quick Links

Access websites of our partners, collaborators, and other professional organizations who share our interest in high quality inclusive services.

Graphics

In response to many requests for the most popular SpecialQuest images, posters, post cards, and journals, the Graphics page provides downloadable files with graphics and artwork for use by the SpecialQuest Community.

NEWSLETTERS

Subscribe/Archives

It is easy to subscribe to the SpecialQuest Birth–Five e-Newsletter, or review the archives for past issues. Each edition of the newsletter spotlights members of the SpecialQuest community, offers opportunities for community members to exchange ideas and resources, and features links to websites that share the SpecialQuest vision for inclusion.
